

TOLAD

After the cremation, what do you plan to do with your loved ones ashes? Scattering the ashes is an option, but how do you arrange it, and where do you do it? The TOLAD offers an answer to that first question. With the TOLAD, scattering ashes takes on a whole new significance.

The TOLAD is a hollow hiking staff filled with our loved one's ashes. With each step a small amount of ashes are released from the lower end of the staff. As a result, the TOLAD makes it possible to scatter ashes gradually while taking a walk. This method is subtle, dignified, and safe under any weather conditions.

SCATTERING ASHES

The bereaved can plan their walk with the TOLAD at any time and a place of their choosing. For instance they could opt for a route that brings back precious memories of the deceased. A memorable route adds extra significance. The TOLAD passes from person to person throughout the walk, giving everyone a chance to share stories, thoughts, and memories with each step, as the TOLAD grows lighter.

The last walk with the TOLAD is a beautiful ritual, in which the ashes of the deceased are scattered with respect, dignity and focused attention. Create a contemporary ritual with the Totem of Life and Death: the TOLAD.

The TOLAD is made from high-quality cardboard and plastic. The cardboard is printed and laminated ensuring that the staff will be able to withstand any weather conditions. A wide opening at the top makes it simple and easy to fill the TOLAD and prepare it for the walk.

A DIGNIFIED FAREWELL

The TOLAD comes in two different, subtle designs, each printed in high quality. The laminated finish ensures that the walk can take place under any weather conditions. The mechanism has been subject to rigorous testing and works on practically any walking surface. The staff also has an ergonomically designed handle to make the grasp as comfortable as possible.
